1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Jonathan E. Prejean on 25 May 2007.

2. The application has been amended as follows:

Paragraph [0038] has been amended to read as follows:

[0038] The free layer 246 adjoins the spacer layer 244, and may be formed, for example of NiFe, CoFe, or other materials or laminates, to a thickness that may be in a range between about one nanometer and fifty nanometers. The free layer 246 may have a track-width dimension and thickness that are similar to those of the first section 252, to encourage magnetostatic coupling between the layers 252 and 246. An electrically conductive nonmagnetic coupling layer 251 may be formed ~~, typically to thickness of about one nanometer, of ruthenium (Ru), chromium (Cr), rhodium (Rh), iridium (Ir), copper (Cu), or alloys of these metals~~ to strongly couple the free layer 246 to the bias structure 250. The first layer 252 of the bias structure 250 may be formed of soft magnetic materials such as permalloy or hard magnetic materials such as cobalt-based alloys, may have a thickness that is in a range between about two nanometers and fifty nanometers.

3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The prior art of record does not teach nor suggest the magnetic sensor as claimed, wherein a ferromagnetic bias layer structure is separated from a free layer by an electrically conductive nonmagnetic spacer layer and has a first section extending between two edges in the track-width direction such that ends of the free layer are magnetically coupled to the edges of the first section and a second section that is separated from the electrically conductive spacer layer by the first section, the second section extending at least twice as far as the first section in the track-width direction.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

4. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Craig A. Renner whose telephone number is (571) 272-7580. The examiner can normally be reached on Tuesday-Friday 9:00 AM - 7:30 PM.
